

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of nothing more than a free campaign commercial for the republicans. Unless Sinclair gives the same benefit to the democrats, they should be fined for campaign violations.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. But when large companies control the airwaves, we get more of what's good for the bottom line and less of what we need for our democracy.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
